Project Number	3	Priority 1
Title of activity	Anesthesiology Interest Group
Purpose of activity	The University of Florida Anesthesiology Interest Group was founded to encourage medical student participation in the American Society of Anesthesiologists, to provide up-to-date resources for medical students in pursuing careers in anesthesiology, and to provide opportunities in leadership, research, and education in the field of anesthesiology.

List the benefits to the State, the University and/or your organization

Every year we send delegates from UF's medical school to the American Society of Anesthesiologists' national conference and have had students serve as the Chair of the Medical Student Component of the Society enabling UF to have influence on a national level. On a local level, we have monthly meetings at which medical students at UF have the opportunity to meet and talk with anesthesiologists and residents in various subspecialties, providing both education and networking opportunities. Medical students have been given the opportunity to shadow and do research with anesthesiologists. The group has also certified over 50 medical students in Advanced Cardiac Life Support over the last few years, as well as taught many other medical students about advanced airway management skills.
